Campus access guide

A guide to help mobility-impaired people get around the Cal Poly campus has been published by the university's Disabled Student Services Office. Titled "A Guide to Campus Accessibility," the booklet was conceived and designed by senior graphic communications major Ernie Lee.

Harriet Clendenen, acting coordinator of DSS, said the office saw a need to help people at Cal Poly with mobility impairments and that Lee, who is himself confined to a wheelchair, saw the guide as a way of fulfilling that need. The guide is a series of maps, each showing a different section of the Cal Poly campus. Each uses symbols to indicate where curb cuts, elevators and stair lifts, handicapped parking, and ramps are located.

Lee, who is from Milbrae, consulted with university facilities planners and also did some of his own surveys on the locations of the special access facilities. He also did the graphic designs for the guide. Copies of the guide can be obtained by telephoning the DSS Office at Ext. 1395, or by going to the office, University Union 119A.

Fee waiver program

Information and application forms are available in the Personnel Office for State employees to participate in the Fee Waiver Program. Those who take Cal Poly courses under an approved program of career development, or who have had courses approved as work related, may be eligible for waiver of certain fees.

Deadline for return of completed, approved Fee Waiver forms for Spring Quarter 1982 is Friday (Feb. 19). This deadline has been set to correspond with the deadline for application for admission to the University and so that forms may be processed through the Personnel Office and forwarded to the employee to meet the second Computer Assisted Registration deadline of Mar. 3.

Please note that beginning Spring Quarter employees who are approved for waiver of fees will not be required to meet the first Computer Assisted Registration deadline but will be allowed to register by the second CAR deadline.

Top small business official will visit Poly

A top Washington official, who is a native of California and a part-time resident of Cayucos, will be a visitor on the Cal Poly campus early next month. Michael Cardenas, who was sworn in as the 13th administrator of the U.S. Small Business Administration last March, will attend a luncheon with an invited group of Central Coast Chamber of Commerce officials and area banking and savings and loan company executives on Monday, Feb. 8. He will address a gathering of business students later in the day.

His visit is being hosted by Cal Poly's Center for Business and Economic Research, Small Business Institute, and School of Business. The Center for Business and Economic Research is a newly formed campus institute that will focus the research interests of faculty and students on the business and economic concerns of the Central Coast area. The Small Business Institute is a SBA-funded campus organization through which Cal Poly faculty and students assist small business with their problems.

Cardenas, 47, is a native of Fresno and certified public accountant with wide experience in taxation, auditing, management, and small business problems and issues. He has worked in national, state, regional and local Republican campaigns for the past 14 years, and has been on the boards of trustees of the State Center Community College District, Fresno Community Hospital, and San Joaquin Law School.

The gathering of business students which Cardenas will address following his luncheon appearance on Feb. 8, is being planned as part of the university's annual Business Seminar. Scheduled for both Monday and Tuesday (Feb. 8-9) the seminar will involve about 30 business and industry executives in various kinds of meetings, panel discussions, and other activities with university students.

Trustees look for new Chancellor

CSU Board of Trustees' Chairman John F. O'Connell has announced formation of an eight-member Trustees Search Committee to advise in the selection of a new California State University Chancellor. The committee will be headed by Chairman O'Connell. The committee's recommendations will be presented to the Board, which is seeking a successor to Dr. Glenn S. Dumke.

Dr. Dumke announced in July that he plans to retire on his 65th birthday, May 5, but, at the Board's request, agreed to continue beyond that date, if necessary, until a new Chancellor assumes duties.

The Search Committee will include Dr. Claudia H. Hampton and Charles Luckman, both of whom have chaired the Board in the past. The latter is the Board's senior member and the only incumbent Trustee to have participated previously in the selection of a Chancellor, first Dr. Buell Gallagher in 1961 and then Dr. Dumke in 1962. Other members are Trustees Celia Ballesteros, Blanche C. Bersch, Jeremiah F. Hallisey, Michael R. Peevey and Willie J. Stennis.

The Search Committee, utilizing criteria developed over a three-month period by a predecessor committee headed by Dr. Hampton, has the authority to obtain input from any knowledgeable groups and individuals.

Health insurance rep on campus

Ron Grifford, representative of Occidental Life of California, will be on campus Tuesday (Feb. 2) from 9 am to 11:30 am to answer questions of employees on the Cal-Western/Occidental basic and major medical health insurance sponsored by the Public Employees' Retirement System. Those interested in talking with him can contact him in the Staff Dining Room. Appointments are not necessary.

New insurance plan

The Personnel Office has been notified by the Chancellor's Office that a new Supplemental Income Protection Plan is available to CSU employees who are half-time or more. The insurance will be available through payroll deduction and will be administered by Sanders and Associates.

It should be noted that, like other insurance plans sponsored by the Chancellor's Office and administered by Sanders and Associates, there is no requirement for membership in an employee organization in order to participate in this program. Materials on this plan are currently being distributed through the campus mail.

Flutist Tim Weisberg in concert

The Central Coast's favorite flutist, recording star Tim Weisberg, will return to Cal Poly for two concerts on Sunday, Jan. 31. The encore performances, set for Chumash Auditorium are at 7 pm and 10 pm. There will also be a special opening act.

The public over 18 is invited, with tickets priced at $8.50 advance. Tickets at the door are a dollar more. Students with valid ID can buy their advance tickets at the University Union ticket office for $7; door prices are $8.

Weisberg, who records for MCA and Nautilus, has appeared to sold-out Poly audiences in the past, and these dates should prove no exception. The composer of numerous critically-acclaimed and popular recordings, Weisberg scored a major hit with his collaboration, "Twin Sons of Different Mothers" with Dan Fogelberg a few years back, cementing his artistic reputation.

In addition, Weisberg is a champion competitive bicycle rider, a hobby turned to avocation. Concertgoers are reminded that smokes, drinks, recording equipment, and flash photography is not permitted. Tim Weisberg's Jan. 31 date is presented by the Concert Committee of the Program Board of Cal Poly's Associated Students Inc.

Dog training offered

A dog obedience class sponsored by Cal Poly's Veterinary Science Club will be held on campus each Wednesday evening, beginning Jan. 27, for the next six weeks. "We will teach basic dog obedience and be teaching owners and their small dogs control, responsibility, and togetherness," said Lauri Moore, student coordinator of the training sessions.

The fee for the class is $20 for members of the community and $17 for students. The class is a fundraising project for the club. Sessions will be held on a lighted field near the main gymnasium each Wednesday beginning at 5:30 pm. Persons interested in the class are asked to call Miss Moore at 543-2592 after 6 pm for more information.

Orienteering event scheduled

Over 75 people are expected to participate in the fourth annual Montana de Oro Orienteering Event to take place on Saturday, Feb. 6, presented by Cal Poly's Army ROTC program. The event, which is open to the public, will be free with all necessary maps and compasses provided for the day of the meet.

Three courses will be available - for beginners as well as experienced orienteers. Trophies will be awarded to first place winners on each of the courses. Lieutenant Colonel Joseph W. Stewart, (Head, Military Science) said that orienteering is a challenging, competitive, and fun sport that tests the mental and physical stamina of participants.

Transportation will be organized and will depart from the parking area between the Dexter Building (former library) and the Mathematics and Home Economics Building at 7:45 a.m.

Group instruction and/or additional information can be obtained by telephoning the Cal Poly Military Science Department, 546-2769.

The Year of the Dog

The Chinese community of San Luis Obispo, and the general public alike are invited to join the Chinese Students Association of Cal Poly in celebrating the arrival of the Chinese New Year - The Year of the Dog - on Friday evening (Jan. 29).

Festivities for the annual event will take place at the Veteran's Memorial Building, 801 Grand Ave., commencing with a Chinese banquet and followed by a stage show. Dinner is set for 7 pm. The show will start at 9 pm.

1982 marks the Silver Anniversary of Cal Poly's Chinese students' presentation of the annual event. Tickets are $7.50, and must be reserved in advance by calling (805) 544-2389, or (805) 543-1445. Because of an anticipated sellout and the popularity of the dinner and show, it is advised to call early to secure seats.

On the menu this year is chicken salad, black bean chicken, beef with cauliflower and broccoli, fried rice with ham, vegetable mix, almond pudding, and tea with fortune cookies.

'People' seminars

On Wednesday (Feb. 3) and Wednesday (March 3) at noon in the Staff Dining Room, seminars for faculty and staff on "Dealing with People" will be conducted by Bud Babb and Lois Dirkes of the University Counseling Center.

January payday

January salary warrants for faculty and staff will be available at 3:30 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 29.
